Nauticam Compact Macro Converter I (CMC)
Nauticam has done it again.
Made a lens, with the specific aim for Compact & Mirrorless housings.

Small cameras today have a quality, that is so good, that you have to be very picky about what you put in front of the lens.

And due to the low achromatic aberration, it gives features that you do not see elsewhere:

The CMC is:

- Incredible resolution
- Very high contrast
- A lot of light passing through
- Distance to subject is closer
- High magnification ratio
- High Resolution in corner
- Can fully reflect the convenience from autofocus
- M67 thread
